

FUND OVERVIEW

The NewGen Focused Alpha Fund is a concentrated long-short Canadian equity fund that targets strong absolute returns from its 20-25 core positions. The NG FA fund merges fundamental analysis with an event driven approach to identify alpha opportunities in the extremely inefficient Canadian equity market. The manager places a strong emphasis on portfolio liquidity in order to be able to de-risk and preserve capital in adverse market conditions.

STRATEGY

The NG FA fund is an opportunistic long-short Canadian equity strategy with targeted annualized returns of 10-15%. The portfolio is made up of two kinds of trades: 1. Core Holdings: 10-15 long and short positions that the manager believes to be mispriced, and have definable catalysts set to transpire in the next 12-24 months. Through rigorous research and careful monitoring, these fundamentally driven positions have the ability to generate outsized returns. 2. Opportunistic Trades: These are short-term trading-oriented positions [clean-ups/blocks, financings, dividend cuts, index deletions, M&A, etc.] that provide the ability to generate strong uncorrelated returns in a shortened time frame [days to weeks]. The portfolio is typically concentrated around 20-25 long and short positions and targets a net long exposure of 60-80% on average.

MONTHLY COMMENTARY

The NewGen Focused Alpha Fund (Class F) returned 1.89% in January (1.89% YTD). Equity markets headed off the new year in positive territory, with the TSX closing just shy of all-time highs. January had no shortage of headlines, which created a dynamic trading environment. The US Federal Reserve and Bank of Canada acted as expected, with the former holding rates steady, and the latter taking a small cut. Tech stocks checked back on mixed earnings results and the news that DeepSeek's AI model was trained at a fraction of the cost of its peers; calling into question the large capital intensity required for the future of artificial intelligence. In the end, January ended on an ominous note for the TSX, with US President Trump announcing that he will impose 25% tariffs on imports from Canada, and a 10% tariff of Canadian energy, beginning on February 2nd. The ongoing negotiations between the US and its trading partners is sure to dominate news flow and trading action for the foreseeable future. Yields finished the month slightly lower, while the US dollar strengthened. Commodities marched higher in response to tariff rhetoric, with gold (+6.6%), oil (+1.8%) and copper (+6.3%) all advancing. Across the TSX, Materials (+10.2%), Technology (+10%) and Industrials (+3.4%) led, while Utilities (-0.5%), Consumer Staples (-2.7%), and Health Care (-2.9%) lagged. Some noteworthy winners from the month included: (1) long Americas Gold & Silver (USA-TSX), which appreciated alongside the rise in the price of precious metals; (2) long G Mining (GMIN-TSX), which released a positive production outlook; and, (3) long Boyd Group (BYD-TSX), which advanced in response to positive weather impacts to start the new year.

FOOTNOTES & DISCLAIMERS

Standard deviation is a form of hypothetical performance data; Sharpe Ratio, Sortino Ratio and Jensen's Alpha are hypothetical measures of excess return and we assume a risk-free rate of 1.5% in their calculations. This monthly distribution is fixed but not guaranteed and may be adjusted from time to time at the discretion of the fund manager. The Fund's current annualized yield is calculated based on the most recent monthly distribution assuming reinvestment, divided by the most recent month-end NAV. Portfolio exposures are all calculated as of the most recent calendar quarter-end. This document has been prepared by NewGen Asset Management Limited ("NewGen", "we" or "us").
