

FUND OVERVIEW

The NewGen Equity Long-Short LP Class F Fund (NGLS) seeks to balance steady risk-adjusted performance with capital preservation, in order to deliver a unique return stream that can provide real diversification benefits. The NGLS aims to achieve this by targeting persistent structural inefficiencies that exist in the equity markets and are particularly prevalent in Canada. In order to minimize downside volatility, the Fund adheres to disciplined risk management targets, with a highly liquid portfolio and defensive exposures (market and sector). The Fund's active management style is based on an investment process that merges both trading and fundamental analysis and sources Alpha (excess return) from stock-specific ideas with catalysts (i.e. corporate updates, financings, index addition/deletions, clean-ups/blocks, strategic reviews, M&A, etc) over a short and medium-term time horizon. The portfolio is typically concentrated around 40-60 positions that are balanced between both longs and shorts. Through this portfolio composition, net exposures generally range from 20-40%, thereby minimizing Beta (systematic risk).

MONTHLY COMMENTARY

The NGLS LP Class F returned 6.48% in May (0.83% YTD). North American equities continued their rally in May as markets responded favourably to a thaw in trade tensions. Mid-month, the US and China agreed to significantly roll back tariffs on one another for a 90-day period. This resulted in the S&P 500 posting its best month since November 2023, and pushing the index into positive territory for the year. Meanwhile, the NASDAQ finished the month +9.6% after a late-month push by positive big-tech earnings. The TSX continues to outperform on a year-to-date basis, and finished the month with all sub-sectors green. Industrials (+8.8%), Technology (+8%) and Consumer Discretionary (+7.9%) led, while Utilities (+1.2%), Consumer Staples (+1.2%) and Health Care (+0.9%) lagged. The US dollar ended flat on the month while yields rallied. Gold and copper were relatively unchanged while oil prices firmed above $60 per barrel. Some noteworthy winners from the month included: (1) long Cameco (CCO-TSX), which appreciated in response to an executive order by the US administration that seeks to expand nuclear power generation and reactor construction; (2) long Aritzia (ATZ-TSX), which reported positive quarterly earnings and forward guidance that were ahead of expectations; and, (3) Long InterRent REIT (IIP/u-TSX), which announced that it has entered into a transaction to be acquired at a 35% premium.
